South Eastern Oregon.

The following letter from Capt. Sprague, relating to South Eastern Oregon, contains matters of interest, and should be circulated as widely as possible by the Oregon papers. The letter is taken from the Jacksonville Sentinel:

As the attention of the people is being called to the Southeastern portion of our State, and the Northeastern portion of California, perhaps a brief description of the country, through the columns of your paper, as regards its agricultural and grazing facilities, so far as they are known to me, may be interesting to a portion of your readers. Until within a year or two and until various expeditions had been made the country indicated was supposed to be (with the exception of a few "oasises") an almost uninhabitable desert, and what will hereafter afford homes for thousands of intelligent citizens, was abandoned to the coyote and the savage.

To such of our citizens who are writing to their friends in the East, that Oregon and California are "played out," that no more land worth having can be found, should visit this portion of our country, and then they will be prepared to recant their former declarations, and to say to their friends, 'come on, there is room and to spare.' Beginning then, as far east as Stein's Mountain I will attempt, briefly, to describe the country.

Stein's, or Snow Mountain, in connection with Pueblo Mountain, is a range in the southeastern portion of Oregon, and extending a short distance into northwestern Nevada, and is probably one hundred miles in length. On the eastern side lie the valleys of Alvord and Pueblo, a large proportion of either of which is susceptible of cultivation and, in my opinion, would produce first-rate crops of both grain and vegetables. It is also a first-rate stock country, the mountains, in summer, being covered with bunch grass, and in the valley along the streams, there are wild meadows on which any quantity of hay can be cut for winter use. The winters here are tolerably severe, as they are, also, in most of the country which I shall describe, but as the climate is very much milder than in the Middle or Western States, the winters can hardly be an objection. The great drawback in Alvord valley is the scarcity of timber for building and fencing purposes. The markets for its productions would be in the mines of Idaho and Nevada. East of Alvord and Pueblo valleys, are Forest Creek, White Horse and Willow Creek valleys, susceptible of supporting a considerable population. Already settlements have been commenced on White Horse, and the crops raised there last season prove that the soil is productive. I estimate that from five to eight hundred farms, of 160 acres each, can be favorably located in the valleys already mentioned—as before stated, the great drawback is want of timber. The facilities for communication will be stated at the close of this letter. Crossing Stein's Mountain and coming west, we cross a desert of about 40 miles in extent, from east to west, and commencing on the north at Harneys' valley, and extending South into Nevada—distance unknown—and offering but few spots sufficiently enticing for settlement. On the west of this desert, and extending from north to south, along the eastern base of the Sierra, or (as Major Williamson, U. S. To. Eng., terms them) Warner's Mountains, is Warner's Valley. This valley is long and in many places narrow and with a chain of fresh water lakes extending through it. This valley is north of Surprise valley, California, and is divided from it by a low range of hills. In and around this valley, are many inviting spots for cultivation and for stock raising. Timber is also accessible. Most of the country heretofore described lies north of 42°. Game is abundant in the last mentioned valley. Crossing the Warner Mountains, from east to west, through a low pass, found by Col. Drew, the grade on which is almost imperceptible, we descend into Goose Lake valley. This has its beginning in California in latitude about 41°, and extending north to about 42° 20'. Goose Lake is a body of fresh water 35 or 40 miles long, with an average width of probably 10 miles. The valley, proper, of Goose Lake, extends the whole length of the lake, on the eastern shore, and north around the end of the lake, to the divide between it and Lake Albert. Along the lake the ground slopes gradually from the mountain to the lake, and is crossed by numerous streams, having their sources in the mountains, and should irrigation be needed, would be easily directed from their channels, and take either north or south along the valley as may be necessary. The average width of the valley, along the lake, probably three miles, but every foot may be used for plow or meadow land. This valley is covered with a luxuriant growth of grass, and down next the lake, where the ground is moist, I believe that from five to three tons of wild hay can be made to the acre. The mountains of the east are bald, and covered from foot to summit with bunch grass. Timber may be procured from the ravines and scattered groves on the east, or from the heavily wooded hills on the west of the lake. I have never passed along the west side of the lake, but the heavily timbered hills seem to come down to the water's edge; and, although there may be spots of cultivatable land, there is no extended valley. From the upper end of the lake to the divide between it and lake Albert, the valley widens out to correspond with the width of the lake, but is more ridged and broken—here, also, considerable alkali is found, and, if not too much, as the whole country is grassy, would make an excellent place to keep sheep. Within the limits now being described and about ten miles south of Goose Lake, near the foot hills on the east are numerous hot springs, the waters in which boil as if the fire was immediately under them. No experiments have ever been made in Goose Lake valley to determine whether good crops can be grown; but in Surprise Valley, which lies on the east of the Warner Mountains and opposite Goose Lake, magnificent crops are produced. The difference in the altitude of the two valleys is not very great, and as the soil of Goose Lake valley is evidently very rich, there can be no doubt of its productiveness. North of Goose Lake 40 miles, is Lake Albert, with its valley; but, as I have never seen it, only from the mountains, and at a great distance, I can give no definite description. A party of my company, under Lieut Oatman, visited the southern end of the valley, last fall, and describe what they saw as being exceedingly beautiful, and apparently productive. One of my men (John W Reid) who passed through the valley some years since, describes it as being much larger, more beautiful and better situated for, farming than Goose Lake valley. Here, then, again, is ample room for ten thousand people. Who says Oregon and California are "played out?"

Coming west from the north end of Goose lake, we find Drew's valley. A small stream rising in Goose mountains, and running eastwardly into the lake, passes through this valley. Its average width is about a mile, and it is about fifteen miles long. The grass is very luxuriant over its whole length, but, although its altitude is but little greater than Goose lake, it seems to be much colder. I attribute this to the fact that it is very flat, and the water spreads over much of its surface, and, being closely hemmed in, will not, I think, be very productive, but for stock-raising, will answer a very good purpose. Crossing the divide west of Goose lake and Drew's valley, we reach the head of the south fork of Sprague's river. From this point, down to the eastern line of the Klamath Reservation, is a large scope of country not easily described on paper, but which will afford homes for a large population. This last can almost all be divided up into farms, which will combine the requisites for both grain, vegetables and stock-raising. I am informed that along the north fork of Sprague's river (the main branch) there is a large scope of good country, but cannot write from my own knowledge, as I have not passed over it. Of the reservation I will say but little, as it is shut up from settlement, but it contains much good land, and, although from the frequent frosts prevalent here through the summer, it was supposed that vegetables could not be grown, Mr. Applegate, agent for the Indians, has demonstrated that almost all kinds of vegetables as well as grain, produce well. North of Fort Klamath, and on the eastern slope of the Cascade mountains, for a distance of two hundred miles, are many beautiful valleys, too numerous to attempt any definite description. South of Fort Klamath, and in the Modoc country, is also a great deal of first-rate stock range, snow hardly ever making its appearance, even on the highest hills. Easy communication can be had with, and between all the country I have mentioned.

The road from Chico, California, passes through Pueblo, or Alvord's valley, and Warner's, and by Drew's Pass, between Warner's and Goose Lake. Three roads now enter Goose Lake valley; one from the south, by way of Fort Crook, touching the south end of the lake, one from the west, (the old emigrant road) by way of Lost river, and uniting with the Fort Crook road; another from the west, from Rogue River valley, by way of Fort Klamath, Sprague's river and Goose mountains. There is also another, and, eventually, a very important road leading to the Goose Lake and Lake Albert country. This latter starts at Eugene City, crosses the Cascade mountains in a south-eastwardly direction, and intersects the Fort Klamath or Drew road, in Sprague's river valley.

There is no doubt that, over a considerable portion of the country I have mentioned, snow falls to a considerable depth, and that for a while, in winter, stock will need to be fed; but it is also true that nature has provided bountifully for this contingency by covering the country with meadows, off of which food may be easily secured. People who emigrate to this country must not expect to find all the comforts of civilization at the outset; they must not expect to find the land flowing with "honey" (there will be no trouble about the milk if they take the cows along), nor however religious they may be, will their "Decembers be as pleasant as his Mays." But I will re-assert that this country can, and will at no distant future time, become the home of thousands of intelligent and happy people.

The Indian title to all the country I have mentioned has, I believe, been extinguished, and I am happy to add that there is every reason to believe that the hostile portion of the Indians now inhabiting it, will, themselves, soon be extinguished.

SADNESS AND LITERATURE.—How much bitter truth there is in the following paragraph, which tells volumes in words:

One of the anomalies of literary history is that it has often been the lot of those men who have contributed largely to the mirth and recreation of others to endure a more than ordinary share of misery and want in their own lives. The most entertaining portions of literature have been written by men, whose hearts have been bowed down by sorrow, and at moments when that sorrow has been heaviest. It was in the gloom of a mother's death, deepened by his own poverty, that Johnson penned the charming tale of "Rasselas," it was in the chill desolation of a bare and fireless garret that poor Goldsmith, the beloved vagrant of literature, sketched the brightest picture of domestic happiness the world has ever had; it was from a sick bed, in sore distress, and in a necessitous exile, that Tom Hood shook all England with laughter. The enchantment of Scott, the satire of Jerrold, half of the gems of wit and humor, have been thrown out by genius in its most sorrowful moments.

A negro once gave the following toast: "De Gobernor ob de State—he come in wid bery little opposition—he go out wid none at all.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 25.

Washington News.

CHICAGO March 24.—Washington specials say that the speech of Doolittle, in the Senate, when the copy of the evidence of the New York Custom House Investigation Committee was presented, was the most extraordinary one ever delivered in that body. The Senate suspended the rules to allow him to use whatever language he pleased. He availed himself of this unprecedented privilege to denounce Hubbard, of New York, Chairman of the House Committee, in most offensive terms, accusing him of perjury, forgery and wanton falsehood.

Howe, of Wisconsin, said that his colleague (Doolittle) was above suspicion of bribery, and spoke warmly in Doolittle's favor. This created a marked sensation, Howe and Doolittle not being on speaking terms.

The question of the adjournment of Congress occupied considerable time in both Houses. In the Senate the proposition to meet next June received 4 votes, the middle of October, 19 votes, and the 1st of November, 18 votes. The time was finally fixed on the first Monday in December.

The House debate indicated that forty five Republicans are in favor of May or June and the same number favor October. A sharp squabble will probably follow on the Senate resolution.

The impeachment party strongly oppose adjournment till December. The indications are that the resolution will be adopted, though if the time was three or four weeks earlier it would suit the House better.

The Republican's Washington special says that Senator Foster left for Connecticut yesterday, somewhat demoralized by his failure to procure a nomination for a foreign mission. The President desired him first to advocate the election of English, the Democratic candidate for Governor of his State, and advices from Connecticut say that it is probable that Hawley, the Republican candidate, will be elected Governor, but that two Congressional districts are very close. Several Senators and Representatives go East to-day to speak till the election occurs.

Collector Smythe arrived at Washington to-day. He says he will neither resign nor be removed.

There is little doubt that Congress will adjourn on Tuesday on Wednesday next till December.

The reconsideration of the veto message on Saturday was a very tame affair. Few members paid any attention to its reading. No motions were made save the solitary one of Wilson for the previous question. No applause occurred upon the passage of the bill over the veto.

The nomination of Taylor, late Congressman from Tennessee, will probably be rejected as Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Senator Conness—Congress will Adjourn—Case of Jeff. Davis.

CHICAGO, March 25.—The Republican's special says the statement that Mr Conness declines a re-election, is without foundation. No new man can wield such influence for the Pacific coast.

The Times' special says that if Congress adjourns on Tuesday or Wednesday, as is now almost certain, the President will issue a proclamation, calling an extra session of the Senate for Executive business and to consider the nominations for official positions.

The President has been urged by prominent Republicans and others, to release Jeff. Davis on his own recognizance, because there is no prospect that the Chief Justice will hold court in Virginia so long as that State is under control of the military authority. There is good reason for saying that within ten days Davis will be released on his own recognizance, to answer when called upon.

Gen. Longstreet's Opinion.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Ex-rebel Gen. Longstreet says that there is no humiliation in the acceptance of the terms proposed by Congress, and no reason to doubt that such acceptance in good faith will give good claim for the readmission of the Southern States.

China Mail Line.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The Times' commercial article says there is a large demand for Pacific Mail stock since the announcement of the arrival of the Colorado at San Francisco. The pecuniary results of the initial trip are understood to greatly exceed the calculations of the directors here, who charged up the expenses of putting the line in operation out of the profits for the quarter ending in February. The reduction of the dividends was partly owing to this fact, the majority of the directors regarding China mail service as uncertain. The first trip is said to have brought in one hundred and eleven thousand dollars, exclusive of Government subvention, against ninety-five thousand dollars expenses.

The Herald says that the State Legislative Committee, which is appointed to investigate the charges against the directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, will commence their labors next week. They will proceed to New York to take testimony, adjourning to Albany should a considerable amount of testimony appear.

Gen. Sickles takes Command at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, (S C.) March 25.—General Sickles issued an order to-day, taking command of the Second District. He says that the local tribunals will be permitted to take jurisdiction and try offenders, except in cases referred by order of the commanding General to a military tribunal for trial. The civil authorities are authorized to continue in the exercise of their proper functions. Arrests by military authority will be reported promptly and charges preferred will be accompanied by the evidence. The General desires to preserve order by the agencies and means most congenial to the people. He solicits the cordial co-operation of the civil officers in the discharge of his duties and the aid of all good citizens for the preservation of peace. He urges the people to be unreserved in their obedience to the authorities now established.

"Vice President" Stephens' Opinion—Southern Destitution.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The friends of Alexander H. Stephens say that he counsels the Southern people to remain quiet and await the issue. He wants nothing done by the South which can influence the policy of the dominant party.

Advices from Northern Alabama represent the people living at a distance from the coast as dying of starvation. Unless relief reaches them the whole range of counties in the Sand mountain section will be depopulated. The floods have destroyed a large quantity of the food sent by the relief association to the sufferers.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Joseph F. Cummings, an ex-rebel Commissioner, has been arrested on a charge of having used the power of the Confederate Government to take from a resident of Tennessee, property valued at $600,000, and convert it to his own use. He is now in prison.

Counterfeit twenties on the National Bank of Portland, Maine, are in circulation.

Judge Deady, of the U. S. Circuit Court, gave judgment to-day in favor of Bigler, also in the case of the United States vs Avery to the same effect. The burning of the three American ships George Raines, Flora McDonald and George V., at Valparaiso, February 9th, which was reported by telegraph via New York, is confirmed by the news by the steamer. The Astoria Property Sale.

ED. OREGONIAN.—The editor of the Herald having generously published my answer to his criticisms upon my lot sale, and closed the argument by a candid reply, for which he has my thanks, I do not feel at liberty to trouble him further. But, what constitutes a lottery is an interesting question of public law, and seeing an article in a New York paper of Feb. 9, 1867, (The Scottish Am. Journal,) I make the following extract:

"It has just been decided that under the New York State laws the recent gift enterprises, in which several millions of dollars have been invested by citizens of all classes and degrees, and for which drawings have been held in Chicago and New York, are legal. The decision is simple: If every ticket holder gets a prize, let it be merely a six-penny breast-pin, or a steel pen of the value of two cents, the investment is not a lottery. A test case was made by the Art Union promoters, a number of years ago, and decided by the Supreme Court in their favor; and there is no likelihood of a different decision being made now, should the appeal be made again."

The Journal then comments, disapprovingly, upon the Chicago Opera House Lottery, and the Cooper Institute Lottery for the benefit of soldiers, and says that the tickets drew trash, and the purchasers really got nothing for their money. I agree with the Journal that such schemes are swindles, and their influence is evil; and I should be better satisfied with the decisions of the New York courts if they had held that in case the tickets were substantially blanks, and the purchasers really lost their money, the fact of their drawing worthless trifles was a mere evasion, which the law would not permit. But when each purchaser gets the full value of his money, the addition of prizes or bounties cannot change the legal or moral qualities of the sale. If it does, then how can the giving of premiums, as an inducement to invest, in any case, be justified? If to induce people to buy a considerable amount of property, which I am constrained to sell and which without extra inducements they would not feel able or disposed to buy, I propose to give a share or shares to each purchaser at the actual selling price, and then add an equal amount in premiums, no one suffers but myself. Either all giving of prizes and all casting of lots are wrong, or else there is a line of separation between the wrong and the right. The law draws such a line between lotteries and prize sales. The latter are lawful; and if they are honest in price and fairly conducted, why are they not also moral?

CYRUS OLNEY.

ASTORIA, March 21, 1867.

STEPHENS' BOOK.—The Army and Navy Gazette, a journal which certainly will no be accused of "Radicalism," has the following on the rebel Stephens and his forthcoming book:

The public has been kindly informed that Mr. Alexander H. Stephens, late Vice-President of the Southern Confederacy, is writing a book called, "The History of the War between the States." And the public is furthermore warned that this will be "the best book on the subject." The title itself of this volume is an affront to the country. The very object of the long and bloody strife, on the part of the nation, was to prove that the rebellion was not a "war between the States." The blood of those dearest to us, our fortunes and our lives, were staked or sacrificed to prove that it was no "war between States." If a single lesson was learned, from the cruel experience of this frightful war, it is that the Government was in arms against rebellious citizens, that the nation was on one side, and the plotters or abettors of the exploded doctrine of secession on the other. Yet, before the blood of the slain heroes is dry, or the smoke has furled off from the battle-fields, Mr. Stephens rushes into print, if we may judge from his title, with a re-assertion of all that is calamitous in our past politics. He was the second civil officer in the rebellion, and all the world but America looked to see him and his colleague singled out to be punished for their pains. Seeing that he lives by the clemency of the Nation, and has not yet received no pardon, he might well forbear to launch into type on the old secession question, and to head his book with a title expressing the essence of secession.

WHAT THE LOCAL SAID OF THE LECTURER.—The lecture last evening was a [illegible] affair. The hall ought to have been filled. We are sorry to say only 40 persons were present. The speaker commenced by saying that he was by birth an ecclesiastical deduction; gave a learned description of the devil, and his skill in sawing trees. Among other things, he stated that the patriarch Abraham taught Cecrops arithmetic. We trust the eloquent divine may be induced to repeat the lecture at some future day.

WHAT THE LECTURER SAID OF THE LOCAL.—DEAR SIR—In a report of my lecture in your beautiful city, you made some few mistakes which I wish to correct. You made me speak of myself as by birth an "ecclesiastical deduction." What I said was, that I was not by birth, but only ecclesiastically, a Dutchman. Instead of speaking of the devil as sawing trees, I spoke of him as sowing tares. I said nothing of Abraham but spoke of the Arabians as nomads of [illegible] ity. I say that Cecrops was the founder of Athens and instructed the people in agriculture.

TUESDAY MORNING MARCH 2 1867

A New Way of Getting into Congress.

An ex member of the rebel Congress who has been groping for some time in the dark not knowing precisely how to find his way out of his present difficulties and obtain the object of his anxious desire, to wit, a place in the Congress of the United States, has, as he supposes at last discovered a path that will lead him from the shades of Avernus to the upper light Congress not being convinced of his patriotism refuses him a seat and he intends to appeal to the Supreme Court to test his right to admission This is a happy idea and the wonder is that men in such extremities, but so fertile in resources never thought of it before. A. H. Garland has been elected United States Senator from Arkansas, and he cannot consent to be kept out of that desirable office on so petty an objection as that of his having served as a member of the rebel Congress and tried to destroy the Government under which he is now so anxious to obtain a post of honor and profit. He conceives that one mode of redress is still open to him, and he is going to make the most of it He believes that the Supreme Court will give him a seat in Congress if that body will not

The originator of this brilliant idea is the same man who not long ago appealed to the Supreme Court for the right to practice as an attorney at its bar in spite of the law of Congress which denied that right to Confederate patriots like himself The Court listened favorably to his appeal, and decided that he should have the right which he prayed to be allowed to enjoy. This was a great point gained, and the Richmond Congressman bethought him that if he was good enough to practice law, he was also good enough to be a law maker; and as the Supreme Court had decided in his favor in one instance it could not fail to do so in another. So he now announces that he will appeal from the Senate to his favorite tribunal, and see whether he is to be kept out of his "rights" in this arbitrary manner.

It is plain that the Confederates and Democrats are great admirers of the Supreme Court. They believe that it has very great powers, one of which is to decide the qualifications of a member of Congress and to issue an order for his instant admission. This is a new way of getting into Congress They who are under the ban seem to have found the remedy at last. It is to be hoped that the appellant, A. H. Garland, ex-member of the rebel Congress, etc., etc., may get a decision on this point. It would be so entirely efficacious !

Aytoun's Bothwell.

Aytoun's poetic monologue called Bothwell, is probably the finest attempt at ballad history or chronicle in modern times. The speaker, Bothwell, is confined in Malmoe Castle, upon the coast of Denmark, whither he had fled after his escape from the Barons at Carberry Hill. After years of solitary confinement he recalls the scenes of his early life, from the time when Mary Queen of Scots

> —First upon the Scottish shore
> She, like a radiant star,
> Descended, bringing hope and mirth
> From those bright realms afar,—

to the fatal day when having wedded by force and fraud the widow of the murdered and worthless Darnley, he could say :

> I was the husband of a queen
> The partner of a throne,
> For one short month the sceptred might
> Of Scotland was my own,

down to the day when suddenly cast from the dizzy height, he became a fugitive and a prisoner.

Probably the finest passage in the poem is that wherein is described the condition of Mary before her marriage with Darnley. Mary was a Catholic and had been reared in France. The nobility of Scotland under the lead of Mary's able and unscrupulous half brother, Murray, and the pay and patronage of Elizabeth, had joined the Presbyterian movement,—the populace of Edinburg under the control of Knox and the new preachers were ardent supporters of the new religious regime, and looked with undisguised suspicion upon the young papist queen. Amid the conflict of new and old opinions, still struggling for the mastery, with victory inclining to the former—

> Poor Mary stood
> Unfriended and alone,
> The tenant of a dreary hall,
> A melancholy throne.
> No more as in her girlish days,
> Surrounded by a ring
> Of valiant lords and gentle knights
> Who for fair Scotland and her rights
> Would die beside their king.
> Gone was the star of chivalry
> That gleamed so bright and pure
> Upon the crest of those who fell
> On Flodden's fatal moor.
> Gone were the merry times of old—
> The masque, and mirth, and glee,
> And wearier was the palace then
> Than prison needs to be.
> Forbidden were the vesper bells—
> They broke the Sabbath calm!
> Hushed were the notes of minstrelsy,
> They chimed not with the psalm:
> 'Twas sin to smile, 'twas sin to laugh,
> 'Twas sin to sport or play;
> And heavier than a hermit's fast
> Was each dull holiday
> Was but the sound of laughter heard,
> Or tinkling of a lute,
> Or worse than all, in royal hall,
> The tread of dancing foot—
> Then to a drove of gaping clowns
> Would Knox with unction tell
> The vengeance that in days of old
> Had fallen on Jezebel!

The University HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIAtion are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located, adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street; lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park, almost within a stone s throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading there being scarcely a single lot on which it would not be safe to build without any change of grade It commands a

Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore and has a soil of extreme richness So great are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract and design building residences thereon

The Rev E Thomas, D D.,

Is President of the Association Lester L Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company is the Treasurer, and Thomas B Lewis formerly of Portland, Secretary

Four lots, 25x120 feet each constitute a share costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each after the first payment of $10 has been made

Maps and books giving full information of the workings of the Association can be obtained at the store of J L PARRISH & CO

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent

A VALUABLE INVENTION

THE UNDERSIGNED CALLS THE ATTENTION of smokers to the celebrated

PATENT DOUBLE-TUBE PIPES

Which he is now importing and which are recommended to all smokers Its peculiar merit consists in the use of TWO TUBES the one for the smoke alone and the other for the passage of the saliva and the nicotine to the cup at the bottom whence it is discharged The smoke being thus kept clear of contact with the saliva is always delicious and pure in its odor and the collected matter which renders all other pipes offensive being entirely removed the pipe will always continue sweet and agreeable. It gives to the smoke the pure exhalation of the tobacco, free from its noxious nicotine; it possesses merits never before obtained in pipes

A leading eastern journal says of this pipe Its merits are incontestably proved by the fact that it is permanently superseding all others in use

Another great advantage in this pipe is that the smoker can easily take it to pieces If the draught becomes obstructed you can withdraw the stem and re open the upper tube of the bowl without emptying it of tobacco

SAN FRANCISCO ASSAYING AND REFINING WORKS,

No. 416 Montgomery Street,

(Successors to Kellogg, Hewston & Company)

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000 !

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, CHAS H McLANE,
WM. C RALSTON, A HAYWARD,
LOUIS A CARNETT

LOUIS A CARNETT, President and Manager
JOHN HEWSTON Jr Chemist and Superintendent

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion

Their charges hereafter will be as follows :

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS

One eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1 000, and one-eighth of one per cent for all amounts over that sum and one per cent on the silver contained Returns made in twenty four hours

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS

On bullion under 300 parts gold 2 cents per ounce

On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold 6 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 750½@949½ parts gold 8 cents per ounce.

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars

FOR COINING GOLD

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent —and which is paid by us to that institution But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY EIGHT HOURS

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing will be cashed by us at the highest market rates

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells Fargo & Co s Express

CHARGES AT U S BRANCH MINT

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 750½@830 parts gold 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 830½@949½ parts gold 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent , and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent —they must be sold at the following par rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage

550 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

847 par to equal Mint return at refining charge of 14 cents

865 par to equal San Francisco A & R Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents

A WONDERFUL RACE.—A gentleman lately from C[illegible] who visited our sanctum a day or two since was inquiring upon the numbers of Hebrews be found in Portland. It is something which puzzles everybody that a race which has no country and which for almost eighteen hundred years has had no distinctive nationality should preserve its original national traits its own religion and customs, while mingling constantly with all nations speaking almost every known language and conforming itself to the laws of every country on the habitable globe. Philosophers say that this state of facts springs from the mercurial activity of the race but others contend that wonderful inward force of character which preserves Hebrew peculiarities is held relief notwithstanding ages of contact with a world which abrades and extinguishes every other nationality? No philosopher has yet been wise enough to solve the mystery A [illegible] and Ethnologist of the present generation says that the Hebrew race is represented wherever civilization is active, and that almost every Hebrew is a Free Mason, Odd Fellow, Druid or Red Man Is there another race which could withstand the assimilating forces that bear which commercial and social relations bring to bear upon them and which they resist as successfully now as centuries ago when the race began to be scattered? To make the puzzle more complete we have the fact of the wonderful adaptability to citizenship of the Hebrew race no matter where his tent may be pitched Notwithstanding the perfect preservation of the Hebrew character he becomes at once an American or a Russian or a Briton with equal facility for all the material purposes of citizenship. Here is a wonder in Ethnology which will probably never be explained, nor ever have its parallel

A USEFUL INVENTION.—Mr John Pike of Astoria is the inventor of a contrivance called properly a Submarine Hydraulic Machine Its design is to be used for the purpose of dredging the bottom of a stream The motive power is steam and any hose which can stand the pressure may be used The invention contemplates a grade and hose which will work in any depth of water without the [illegible] of a diver. It is to be used exactly as the hydraulic apparatus—to disintegrate and wash out the [illegible] on which it is played The inventor [illegible] claims that he can take the apparatus [illegible] the bars of a river and by playing the hose on the sand and gravel aggregation, can sluice it out and thus deepen any channel which can be dredged by the ordinary [illegible], and at far less expense The hose may be worked on shipboard and, attached to the engines may be used for getting the vessel afloat when stuck upon a shoal by washing the ground from under her An application for a patent was forwarded some two months since Mr [illegible] who is assignee of an interest in the invention has been having some talk with the claimants of the Duc de Lorges about applying the practical principle to the bank [illegible] collected again at that vessel Should the experiment be made we will give our readers an account of [illegible] and results.

WHAT THEY SAY OF US.—The editor of the Enterprise visited our city last week and upon returning home says in his paper: "One cannot but remark the solid [illegible] the fact that Portland is a metropolis The [illegible] has been the dullest season Oregon has ever [illegible] two months ago when we were last at Portland so many business men whose countenances [illegible] 'as four bits' would break them but [illegible] those same gentlemen had the demeanor of [illegible] who have no spare moments Portland has a [illegible] about 7,000, and we presume her business [illegible] more than equal that of many places of [illegible] We could not find that chap who wanted [illegible] Portland estate a few weeks ago at [illegible]"

Mr. Thatcher, stage agent, came down a [illegible] from the upper part of the valley He [illegible] "the roads as generally dry and good, something [illegible] never occurred before in the month of [illegible] the settlement of the country The dry [illegible] somewhat interfered with cropping [illegible] says that in the highlands the farmers [illegible] wishing for rain During the month a [illegible] of winter wheat and oats has been sown [illegible] who have not already put in wheat will [illegible] the club variety of spring wheat which can [illegible] late in April, where circumstances prevent [illegible] CALLED FOR.—Capt Rumwell, of the bark [illegible] called at the Police Court room yesterday, [illegible] Marshal Hoyt to send a policeman or two [illegible] the wharf as he intended to commence discharging at 1 o'clock, and apprehended that there might [illegible] with his seamen, some of whom had [illegible] insubordinate disposition during the earlier [illegible] Marshal Hoyt and Officer Brannan went [illegible] wharf, but the crew had evidently got into a [illegible] way of thinking and when orders were [illegible], they responded with alacrity and went [illegible] will Too much grog obtained on shore [illegible] of the insubordinate manifestations.

[illegible] OF THE "RED GNOME."—Owing to the [illegible] of Mr Tanner there was no performance at [illegible] last night and there will be none this evening [illegible] day night the Red Gnome will be played [illegible] Those who have not seen this truly [illegible] should not fail to visit the Theater [illegible] Mr Tanner has incurred a large expense [illegible] has seriously impaired his health by [illegible] in order to put the Red Gnome upon the stage, and as the spectacles of the piece are really [illegible] there ought to be a full house on the last night

INDIGNANT.—Strange as it may seem, [illegible] the P. T. Co.'s boats made regular trips each way [illegible] Oregon City last week, the free navigation of the [illegible] all the week, sadly obstructed to the officers of [illegible] The grand jury at Oregon City having [illegible] the navigation of the river is reopened to [illegible] farms as other parties. It was a good [illegible] Purser Bliss had his, and then [illegible] had his. McCully and Pratt were in too [illegible] now that "the smoke of battle has lifted," it is [illegible] to tell which side left the greater number of dead [illegible] field.

[illegible] FOR THE NORTHERN COAST.—The British [illegible] of the 13th says: 'The Utah is the name of a [illegible] launched at Saco, Maine, and intended for the North Pacific Coast trade She is a sister ship [illegible] and Idaho, and is owned by the same [illegible] fully "backed" against the regular [illegible] Oregon. The Utah will run to Victoria." We have seen no account elsewhere of the design of the [illegible] Co. to put a steamer on the Victoria [illegible] and we are inclined to doubt the statement.

[illegible]—The explorations of the last week [illegible] of the Duc de Lorges determined the [illegible] vessel to be quartering with the stream, [illegible] and about forty feet under water The [illegible] about fourteen feet under She lies on her [illegible] which a considerable bar of sand has [illegible] The diver brought up some of her wood [illegible] chipped from various parts of the vessel, [illegible] of which appears to be perfectly sound

[illegible] THE POOR.—The ladies who have been for [illegible] about the most effectual means [illegible] the poor of this city request us to publish the [illegible]: "All ladies interested in the organization [illegible] to be formed, for the relief of the poor of Portland [illegible] to meet in the basement of the Presbyterian [illegible] to-day, the 26th of March at 1½ o'clock [illegible] is desired

[illegible]—There will be a meeting of the voters [illegible] No 1 of this County at the school [illegible] street, on Monday, April 1st, at 7 30 [illegible] The object of the meeting will be to de[illegible] of levying a tax to build a school house [illegible] Couch's Addition to elect one or more di[illegible] a clerk and to transact such other business [illegible] before the meeting

[illegible] FERRY AGROUND.—Yesterday a party [illegible] one or more of the Commissioners appointed [illegible] Council to survey Swan Island bar went down [illegible] the Ferry While they were steaming [illegible] vessel got aground, far out of the channel, and [illegible] the Ranger came along from Monticello [illegible] made fast to the Ferry and pulled her

DELINQUENT TAXES.—To-day at 10 o'clock [illegible] Parish, Clerk of School District No 1 of this [illegible] will commence selling the assessed property of [illegible] district which is delinquent for school taxes The [illegible] at the Court House and will continue from [illegible] till all such taxes be satisfied The terms are [illegible] gold and silver coin

[illegible] IMPORTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert [illegible] March 25th: 207 gunnies bacon, 20 boxes pro[illegible] 1 pkg socks 105 boxes apples 7 bales [illegible] 1,013 qr sks flour 72 cases lard 62 gunnies [illegible] 19 bags barley 3 kgs mdse, 250 bags oats 10 [illegible] paper, 5 hides, 101 sks feed and 1 coop [illegible]

COMPARED WITH PORTLAND PRICES.—A private letter to this office, from Rockford Illinois Jan 25th says: "[illegible] everything here in the way of dry goods [illegible] and provisions are higher than in Portland [illegible] grain here (except corn) would be [illegible] in Oregon and a poor article at that"

Old Music.

Back from the misty realms of Time,
Back from the years agone
Faintly we catch the ringing rhyme,
And hear the melody and chime
Of golden songs on fairy lutes sublime
Like the carol of birds at dawn

And ever we hear them soft and low
Harping their music sweet,
Songs that we loved in the long ago,
Rippling their liquid ebb and flow,
Drifting their cadence to and fro,
Like the fall of fairy feet

Some faces our heart will ever hold,
Some smiles we may remember yet
There were flowing locks like the sunset's gold,
There were parted lips of Cupid's mould
And the songs they sang can ne'er grow old
For our hearts can ne er forget

Ah, welladay! 'tis a story past,
Which I may not tell again
'Twas a happiness too sweet to last,
The heavy clods on her grave are cast,
And her voice is still, and above her fast
Falls the Winter rain

AN IMPORTANT CASE AT THE CORNERS, UNDER THE VAGRANT ACT—THE DECISIONS OF SQUIRE GAVITT

[From the Toledo Blade]
Post Offis, Confedrit X Roads
(Wich is the Stait of Kentucky,)
January 28, 1867

Wun uv the most important cases—important in a nashnl sense ever tried afore a court uv jus tis, come off afore Squire Gavitt at the Kort House at the Corners yesterday. It wuz important, be coz it involved the very eggsistence uv the insti tooshn upon which Kentucky is built—becoz upon its decision hung the great question whether or not the Bible shoud be respectid and its holy in junkshuns obeyed—whether Kentucky shood, clingin to the Skripters, go on ez a Kristian Stait, or, denyin it, go back into infidelity and barba rism. I skasly need say that the porshens uv the Bible to wich I refer is too ever blessed chapters relatin to Ham, Hagar and Onesimus—the only parts of the Skripter we pay much attenshun to But of them is sucsessfully attackt wat follows? The entire strucktur comes tumblin to the ground Therefore, holdin to Aferkin slavery, we are or thodox believers.

The sirkumstances uv the kase wuz sumthin like this: A nigger uv the name uv Gabrel, 'wunst the happy and contented servant uv that eminent Kristian, Deekin Pogram, becum pos sessed uv the sperit uv the devil, and sullen, becoz the Deekin sold his wife to raise the means to send his seckond son, Isaker, wich wuz a studyin for the ministry, to a Theolojikle Institoot, sum wheres in Georgia, and also en raged becoz his female offspring, Elizer, happened to attrackt the attenshun uv his eldest son, Elijer, he run away in the first year uv the war, and fol lered the Federal army, finally enlistin as a sojer Durin the progress uv the struggle, he learned to read, and bein powerful in prayer and sich, he headed a revival, and havin gifts that way attract ed the notis uv Genrel Howard, or sum uv them fanatics, who had him instructed, and finally made him an agent uv a branch uv that accursid Freed men's Burow. And sheer enuff, after the war, he appeared in this visinity, salaried by this sosiety, and commenst unfittin the niggers for their normal condishen by teechin em to read, and establish in Sunday skools among em, and givin em advise generally, wich wuz aginst the dignity and peace uv the Kommonwealth. The citizens stood it on til last Monday, with a pashense karacteristick uv the people uv Kentucky. The Deekin hed a dis poot with a nigger relative to a triflin matter uv wages. The nigger had bin workin at the stipu lated sum uv $4 per munth—the Deekin brought in, ez a offset, his board at $2 per week, and rath er than hev any fuss about it, proposed to let him work the balance out doorin the winter munths To this ekitable arrangement the nigger demurred, holding that board wuz inclooded, and this Gabrel advised the nigger to sue, and he did so.

Enraged at this interference, the Deekin went be fore Squire Gavitt, and complained uv Gabrel ez a vagrant, and employed me to attend to the case. Pollock, the Illinoy store-keeper, volunteered to defend the nigger, and there wuz a tremenjus egg sitement over it.

I opened the case by statin that the nigger's bisnis was to prove that he hed visible means uv support—Pollock insisted that it wuz our biznis to prove that he hedn't, but the court decided agin him.

The nigger then swore that he receeved from his congregashen thirty dollars per month for his ser vices. I submitted that ez he wuz a interested party, other proof wood be rekwired. Pollock in terdoost the elders uv the congregashen, but I check mated him there, by [illegible] that the tes timony uv a nigger wasn't admissable, and which the court [illegible] sed it wasn't [illegible] Pollock submitted that whether or no [illegible] could be considerd a vagrant, as he [illegible] himself to the fact that he (Gabrel) [illegible] three hundred dollars in greenbax [illegible] yeart for a time at least.

[illegible] wuz a immense eggsitement then in the court.

"Wher dus he keep it," asked the Squire, visi bly agitated.

"In his chist at the house where he boards," sed Pollock.

"This court stands adjourned for thirty minits," sed the Squire, boundin over the railin in front uv him. "Hold on," sez he; "hold on Deekin, a fair start is all I want. Don't take advantage uv my age to get ther first," and pell-mell over one another the entire awjence, ceptin Pollock, the nigger and me, started on a keen run for the house. In a few minits they returned, pantin and out uv breath, when the Squire called the court to order agin, which bein restored he remarked:

Ef it cood be established that the nigger hed $200 in greenbax it wood necessarily discharge him, ez no man with that sum cood be considered a vagrant; but he rather thot of the prisner at the bar shood look in the drookshun uv his house he'd find it wuz'nt there any more ez a house, the the material uv wich it wuz built wuz lyin around promiskus. Likewise, probably, he wouldn't be able to find the $200 he hed in his chist. The place that knowd it wunst will know it no more forever—it hed bin confisticated by the enraged sitizens. He wanted it understood that no sich trifle impediment in the way uv justice ez the possession of $200 cood be allowed within the ju risdickshun uv this court. The nigger not being able to prove his means uv support, and ez the court knows of its own knowlege, that he aint got any $200, the court would ask criminal's counsel, wat other nonsense he hez to plead.

Sed Pollock, the Illinoy storekeeper

"I wood beg leave to state to this court that, un der the civil rights law, the defendant couldn't be arrested ez a vagrant, ez the law under wich the accused is arrested only menshuns persons uv color makin a distinkshin agin em."

Never, while memory retains her seat, shell I forget the scene that ensood. Filled with a sense uv the responsibility restin onto him, the squire rose slowly from his seat, his face uv a deathly palenis, wich hed the effeck uv heightenin, by contrast, the intense rednis uv his nose, and risin to his full hite, remarked that the court hed ex pected that objection to be urged, and hed, there fore, prepared for it. That law does'nt bind this court to any alarmin extent, considerin it ez in fringin onto the reserved rites uv the States

"Will the court be so good ez to menshun, for the informashun uv the populace, wat the reserved rites uv the States are?" sed Pollock.

"The court insists that it shel not be interrupt ed when it's deliverin itself uv a opinion. Con siderin it ez infringin upon the reserved rites uv the States, uv whom Kentucky is the cheefust and luvliest among ten thousand (10,000)"—at this pint his nose glowd redder and redder, and it seem ed to me ez the a halo uv life encircled his frosty hed, ez he continued—"THE COURT HOLDS THAT LAW TO BE UNCONSTITOOSHENEL, and ez sich shel not regard it. Hez the counsel anythin more to remark?"

"Nothin," sed Pollock. "And knowin the court ez well ez I do I wonder at my makin sich an ass uv myself ez to hev remarkt anythin uv the kind at all."

"Hes the counsel for the State anything to re mark?"

"Nothin," sed I. "I am willin to trust the case in your hands, feelin confident that justis—genoo ine Kentucky justis will be dun"

Wareupon the squire hed the prisner stand up, and drawin on a black cap in a very impressive manner, sentenced him to eighteen months hard labor, breakin stone for the turnpike wich we are bildin from the Corners to the stashen, at the konklusion of wich Pollock very profanely added, "And may the Lord hev mercy on your sole"

The nigger wuz immejitly stript uv his good close, wich the squire thot would just fit him, and a soot uv vagrant's close wuz given him, and he wuz to wunst put to his labor.

We hev hopes that this will end the nigger skools in this vicinity, ez well ez the discontent that hez existed among the niggers ever since dis turbin Gabrel hez bin here. The Corners is now enjoyin a holy cam—more so than any period for a month. PETROLEUM V NASBY, P M,

Pat Malone vs O'Meara

These worthies, the would be chiefs and mouth pieces of Idaho Democracy, are now in a bitter quarrel. A correspondent at Idaho City sends the following account to the Boise Statesman

We came near having a free fight here last night about the possession of the printing mate rial upon which the Times has been printed The country ought to know the circumstances Many of our readers will recollect that last year Pat Malone was induced by the promises of Demo crat to bring up to Idaho a printing office They failed to redeem their promises, and Malone's presses lay at Umatilla for six or eight months, subject to demands to the amount of over three thousand dollars At last, when all hope of the Democracy redeeming their obligations vanished, Malone rented the material to the Union party to print a campaign paper on—they paying for its use for several weeks the sum of $2 500 This paid the demand upon it from below to within about $500 Tom Foye the ex assessor of this county, paid this $500 and got the printing mate rial into his possession as security, with the un derstanding that he and Malone would settle the matter between themselves Then Foye, with Malone's consent, rented the material to Shepherd & Co for six months at $160 a month, and deeded one-half interest in the whole affair to Rev A J Poulin, Catholic priest of this place, in trust for John T Malone a son of P J Malone The first $300 of the rent was paid to the holder of this deed the next day after its execution Malone and his son then started below While they were gone Foye was prevailed upon by Jimmy O'More ly, otherwise known as "Dennis," to sell his right, title and interest in the concern, and to transfer the lease to Bowman & Co for a promise to pay Foye the sum of $1,000 and to get Foye a relief bill through the last legislature The former has never been paid and never will be, and the latter remains unperformed to this day Foye claims that he sold only a half interest in the con cern to Bowman & Co They claim it all The lease to Shepherd expired yesterday The even ing before Malone arrived from below, with the proper papers to take possession of the half in terest deeded by Foye to Father Poulin And here commenced the sharp practice of O'Meara & Co. As the assignee of Foye's lease to Shepherd they got possession of the printing material, and commenced removing it against the remonstrance of Malone. Malone took possession of the house, having had Shepherd's lease of it transferred to him, and ordered Jimmy and his party out All went out but O'Meara. Malone locked the door and took up arms to defend his house and prop erty. Meanwhile Ike Bowman swore out a war rant against Malone, and got Sheriff Crutcher to arrest him under it and take him before Justice Donahue This was what the Bowman party wanted, to get Malone out of the way While Malone was before the justice, Bowman collected a crowd and removed all the printing material to the house of one of his creatures named Turner. Malone intends to prosecute for the recovery of his right, but O'Meara swears he shall never get a cent, as the deed to Father Poulin, he says, is worthless And such is the cunning trickster who sets himself up as a teacher of democracy to this region The facts in the case are well known to all of this community, and none but the most barefaced scoundrel would try to shield himself from the performance of justice by a mere tech nicality, even if the deed by Foye to Poulin was not strictly legal. The object of all this sharp practice is to cheat Malone and prevent the publi cation of any other paper but the World here But there will be another paper here in spite of O'Meara. As for Malone, he almost deserves what he got for putting faith in the unmitigated, rascally Democratic ruffians of Idaho City I think the dose will cure him of Democracy

The Wealth of the Andes

The whole range of the Andes is known to be filled with precious metals of incalculable wealth All along the coast, for 4,000 miles, are mineral indications visible to the naked eye, and in some places the tourists sail many days past bluffs deep ly stained with the deposits of copper. At every port mineral specimens from the interior are ex hibited for sale, and to induce explorations, and small smelting works dot the shore from Peru to far south of Valparaiso. The traditions of the Indians whom the Spaniards found here nearly 400 years ago were full of accounts of gold and silver mines, and from that time to the present day new discoveries have followed each other with al most fabulous rapidity. It would be impossible to give all the traditions that still exist respect ing mines that have once been worked by Indians on a small scale and are now unknown. The au thenticated accounts of accidental discoveries of silver by peons, who either parted with their ac quisitions for a trifle or amassed immense fortunes, would fill volumes. In the coal mines of the south of Chili I saw men working with the pick who once owned portions of the coal district, and many of the copper and silver mines now in oper ation have laborers employed in them who knew of the existence of the mines long before they were operated A few lucky discoverers turned their good fortune to account, and from paupers became very wealthy. I know of one instance in particular, where the owner of the mine was a half starved peon, glad to get ten cents a day, and who has an annual income of $200,000 Gold and silver, in more or less abundance, are found from the Isthmus of Panama to the Strait of Ma gellan The silver mines of Peru have long been well known, and the discovery of silver in Chili dates back to a very early period Gold is found in many parts of the country, and has been work ed some, but not with satisfactory results It is believed that the extreme Southern Districts of Chili, now occupied by Indians, has very rich gold mines, as considerable quantities of that metal reach the coast through the hands of tra ders with the various tribes. Near Valparaiso several attempts have been made to get out gold, and one or two parties did tolerably well for a time, but the project was finally abandoned Immense mines of silver and copper are found in Bolivia and the north of Chili, and farther south are rich and extensive coal fields. Mines of cobalt, zinc, lead, etc, have also been discovered, and are being worked successfully. In addition to these mineral riches, a portion of the coast yields many tons of saltpeter annually.

THE STAGE AND THE PULPIT —Fancy, says the Glasgow, Scotland, Herald, the thrilling effect of the Scriptures if read as Kean reads Shakspeare, or recites Macaulay! And why should we not have it so? Is it right and proper that every book for public reading should have justice done to it except the Bible? And that, while every other subject is allowed the advantage of a natu ral and impressive delivery, which is the most important of all, should be denied by all? The monstrous fallacy with which well meaning but obtuse people have been beguiled or have beguiled themselves, is that such reading and reciting would be "theatrical," and that theatrical exhi bitions are not becoming in the house of God To this hollow and ridiculous fallacy may be traced most of the execrable pulpit reading and deliv ery that rob the Scriptures of half their power, and have often made the dullness of a sermon proverbial. Set Kean to read the song of Mir iam, or the fight of David with Goliah, or the story of the prodigal son, or Christ's denunciations of the Scribes and Pharisees, or to recite one of Chalmers' sermons, and you will see the people who had begun to adjust themselves in the cor ners of their seats for their accustomed snooze sit up and listen to him very close, with eager eyes and bated breath And all this simply because Kean would do the piece justice, that is, read it naturally, and as it ought to be read On what possible ground, either of common sense or good taste, can objection be taken to the natural de livery of at least the sermon! If Garrick could set even the grim soldier, who was on duty at the corner of the street, blubbering like a child, and if Mrs Siddons could so overpower the eminent tragedian Young that he could not refrain from sobbing aloud, though he was himself on the stage acting the villain of the piece—and all this while merely uttering the words of a fictitious character—what overwhelming effects in the way of awakening sinners and pressing the message of the Gospel might not be introduced by men who are giving utterance, in their own character, to the most sublime and soul stirring truths!

TERRIBLE WARNING TO BACHELORS —The vital statistics of Scotland and of New York, says the San Francisco Bulletin, have brought to light a fact of great interest to ladies Single blessed ness, if not a deadly sin, is a fatal error Unmar ried young men on both sides of the Atlantic die twice as fast as married ones The health returns show that if a young fellow marries between 20 and 25, he will probably live to 60 or 70 years of age, if he declines the matrimonial fetters in his youth, it is 1 in 80 he will never see 50. The av erage life in Edinburg of married men is 59½ years; the average life of a single man is 40 years This discovery ought to double the number of weddings, and make it as much a matter of pru dence to marry as to be vaccinated The Life Insurance companies will have to make new cal culations and issue two or three sets of tables, one for bachelors and one for husbands, with perhaps, an intermediate table for widowers If a man finds that the annual payment which insures $2,000 to his heirs before marriage will entitle him to a policy for $4,000 after the ceremony, he will have a strong motive for asking one of his young lady acquaintances to share his lot. In popping the question there will be a new ground for ap pealing to an obdurate coquette. "Have pity on me, would you let me die when you alone can prolong my life?"

SCROFULA AND KING'S EVIL!

by eradicating the disease entirely from the blood The FOUNTAIN OF LIFE is composed entirely of vegetable extracts it contains no Mercury or other mineral sub stance

The Proprietor in [illegible] of this Sovereign Remedy CHALLENGES THE WORLD to furnish anything from the days of Æsculapius down to the present time in the arcana of Medical Science which can vie with or excel the intrinsic properties of this Great Blood Purifier Its value has been tested with the happiest effect in the most inveterate cases of Scrofula, that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians in the world No matter what form the dreadful disease of SCROFULA and KING'S EVIL may have assumed it can in no way be more safely and certainly arrested in its progress than by HENLEY'S GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER Thousands have been swept into their graves who had they made a timely use of the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE, might now be enjoying the bless ings of life and health It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself During the stern ordeal of public experiment the FOUNTAIN OF LIFE has stood the test trial and not been found wanting

☞ Dr HENLEY guarantees to CURE any case of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL in the world and eradicate the disease entirely from the system, or no charge made —provided they will secure him his pay when they are cured

I would refer you to I L Peck, of Portland Oregon, and numbers of others, as to what a miraculous effect it had in a short time in cases that had baffled the skill of physicians for years

This is to certify that I, John B Jodwan, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and and many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr G W Brown and stated my case to him and misfortune he at once com menced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and com mend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr G W Brown The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured J B JODWAN

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months, and almost blind for one year and a half, I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit, I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr G W Brown, now of Salem I was induced to try him; he performed a surgical operation on my eyes, and gave me treatment I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in Justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under simi lar afflictions that they may know where they can get re lief It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good I can see to read the finest print without difficulty, and my eyes can bear the strongest light without pain

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonor rhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and fe male, are there who are suffering out a miserable exist ence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaci ated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitu tions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thou sands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible life-destroying maladies,—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mer cury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pre tended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific med ical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in ap proaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and sci entific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr. G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfacto rily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symp toms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered let ter or through Wells Fargo & Co

He has determined to make the "Bennett" as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort, and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage.

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere—not in clap-trap, pomp and show, flummery and fine furniture, but in an abund ant supply of the very best the market affords

His Bar room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort.

In short, he intends making an effort to please all who stop at the Bennett House. And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere, and promises if they are not well treated, and properly cared for, and at reasona ble figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,
